is just what I read in the papers, and what I hear over the Radio during the various tooth paste hours. I tell you it's a lucky thing for us that people's seth are in such bad shape or we never would get any amusement at all. in the old days when we did nothing with our teeth till we died off, why we had no amusement at all. We couldent turn a dial and get our favorites Amos and Andy. Tooth paste has been responsible for more good laughs than Barnums Circus has, and you can use the wrong kind too. According to the announcers, there is various kinds that cause decay, while their kind brings on added growth, so you got to be mighty careful.

Course the best thing in the world in the old days was to chew on a tough plece of steak, or kinder gnaw on and around a bone. But nowadays on account of having to buy so much tooth paste why it dont leave enough to get the steak to whiten and toughen the teeth. A good old rump steak would give your teeth more exercise and build up a foundation than a steel tooth brush would.

use of firearms only in self-defense, He called the administrators and speclai agents all in to Washington and laid before them a statement of his policies which was said to have been approved by President Hoover and Attorney General Mitchell. Schools will be set up to teach the agents "to use their brains rather than their: brawn in discharging their duties," to train them in methods of gathering in habits of discipline." Five major points were emphasized in the Woodcock statement aside from the proposal to maintain high personal standards for agents. These were: (1) Establishment of a system of daily reports to Washington by deputy administrators; (2) scientific research into such problems us drunk enness statistics, alcoholism deaths and hop and corn sugar production:

(3) efforts to obtain more state aid in dry law enforcement; (4) efforts to secure more uniform sentences for violators; and (5) concentration upon the commercial liquor traffic rather than upon "pitiful, picayunish, non commercial cases."

Supervisors of industrial alcohol permits also met in Washington and, with their chief, James M. Doran, considered how they might best combine their efforts with those of the pro hibition enforcement unit.

President Hoover's law enforcement commission will issue a second formal report of its work this fall. Arrange ments for formulation of the docu-ment will be completed at a meeting here early in October Leaders of nearly all the dry organizations in the country issued a signed declaration of policy which was looked upon by many as a recognition of the growing antagonism to prohibition en-forcement as it has been carried on in the past. In it they repudiate all enforcement policies that do not regard and safeguard every personal right guaranteed by the Constitution, and pledge themselves to a campaign of education. The declaration states it is the paramount purpose of the Fighteenth amendment to destroy traffic in intoxicating beverages, and that the enemies of prohibition try to make this appear as offensive sumptuary legislation.

In LINE with the Hoover program helping business, representatives of the various branches of the building industry and allied agencies of finance met in Chicago and created a permanent national conference on contruction. Julius H. Barnes, chairman of the national building survey conference last fall, presided and was made head of a committee to complete arrangements for the organization of the conference. A statement issued "The meeting was held for the purpose of reviewing the principal intergroup problems of the construction stry and to determine the practicability of developing a continuing organization to assist in the solution of such problems.

"Aspects of realty finance, including problems of legislation, appraisals of property, methods of home assacing and credit practices were discussed. Possible means of securing greater stabilization of the construc tion industry, a number of aspects of taxation and practical methods or introducing economies in the building and financing of residences and income properties, were considered."

WOULD RESTORE

The writer recently was told the story of a family in which there were at the other points for a considerable period, near and at Detroit. This movement is something which is of vital interest to all in this state who seek to add to the already large number of transient tourists and those who would make Michigan their summer home and camp ground. Inasmuch as it should be state-wide. I would suggest that an association be formed known as the Old Forts and Historic Memorial Association. Its membership would include the various resort and tourist associations. The building of an estate may seem.

SAVINGS, THOUGH AMOUNTS BE SMALL, ARE STEPS TOWARD FINANCIAL INDEPENDENCE

(By S. W. STRAUS, President American Society for Thrift).

An interesting story, with a fine wrift application, is told about one of America's wealthiest men and most able financiers. When he was a boy he visited his grandparents.
